provides the reader with a modern translation of Pirkey Avot as well as an analysis of the text based on his experience in Torah study and his knowledge of psychology. Much commentary has been written on this important work yet Rabbi Bulka's commentary differs in that he focuses on the psychological wisdom contained in this classical text. He seeks the thematic connections between each of the chapters showing that Rabbi Yehuda Hanasi who compiled Pirkey Avot chose the statements and their order deliberately. Rabbi Bulka does not resort to explication through outside sources but rather offers an understanding of each chapter on its own giving the reader a springboard to further exploration and elaboration of this most significant work. Pirkey Avot is divided into six chapters; the first five deal with different dimensions of existence including the transmission of Jewish values, the direction of one's life path, the means of keeping sanctity in one's life, the values that become part of one's personality, and how Torah is and should be expressed in life. The sixth chapter, also known as the acquisition of Torah, focuses on what is meant by a Torah-true personality which is not easily attained but encompasses all that is good in life. Rabbi Bulka has enabled the contemporary reader to access the wisdom of the Jewish sages by presenting Pirkey Avot in a manner applicable to today's world in today's terms, a powerful and challenging examination of what Jews believe today by a new generation's dynamic and innovative thinkers. New in paperback at every critical juncture in Jewish history, Jews have understood a dynamic theology to be essential for a vital Jewish community. This important collection sets the next stage of Jewish theological thought, bringing together a cross-section of interesting new voices from all movements in Judaism to inspire and stimulate discussion now and in the years to come. Provocative and wide-ranging, these invigorating and creative insights from a new generation's thought leaders provide a coherent and inspiring picture of Jewish belief in our time. The passionate voices of a new generation of Jewish thinkers continue the dialogue with God, examining the dynamics of what Jews can believe today. They explore a dynamic God-in-process, the canon of Jewish literature, and its potential to be both contemporary and authentic to tradition. Critical terms and categories for discussing Jewish theology, the ongoing nature of the Jewish search for God, ruptures within the modern Jewish condition, and much more. Where was the line between pleasure and irritation in the sensory overload caused by the sounds, colours, and smells of a medieval market? How could pain and suffering be relieved by hoping for and desiring to experience an intimate, almost familiar contact with Christ? This volume shows the different aspects of sensory experiences that medieval people conveyed through documents, literary accounts, and religious practices. The unifying theme here is how pleasure, pain, desire, and fear appear in different, sometimes conflicting combinations and settings, from the private space of the monastic cell to the shared hustle of the market. The geographic focus of this volume is Mediterranean Europe, although it also touches on other Western contexts. The combination of different points of view here provides an original contribution to the study of sensory experiences in the Middle Ages.
