blueprint for how parents can stop worrying about their children s future and start helping them prepare for it from the cofounder and ceo of one of america s most innovative public school networks a treasure trove of deeply practical wisdom that accords with everything i know about how children thrive angela duckworth new york times bestselling author of grit in 2003 diane tavenner cofounded the first school in what would soon become one of america s most innovative public school networks summit public schools has since won national recognition for its exceptional outcomes ninety nine percent of students are accepted to a four year college and they graduate from college at twice the national average but in a radical departure from the environments created by the college admissions arms race summit students aren t focused on competing with their classmates for rankings or test scores instead students spend their days solving real world problems and developing the skills of self direction collaboration and reflection all of which prepare them to succeed in college thrive in today s workplace and lead a secure and fulfilled life through personal stories and hard earned lessons from summit s exceptional team of educators and diverse students tavenner shares the learning philosophies underlying the summit model and offers a blueprint for any parent who wants to stop worrying about their children s future and start helping them prepare for it at a time when many students are struggling to regain educational and developmental ground lost to the disruptions of the pandemic prepared is more urgent and necessary than ever we all want to succeed but unfortunately success cannot be achieved by mere wishes if you ve had great dreams in the past that were later buried because you lacked the knowledge needed to implement those ideas don t worry a problem known is half solved already i ve been there i know what it feels like and that s why i ve written this book to guide us on our way up and most importantly to help us stay up no one wants to fall not after rising dreams birthed teaches us the importance of foresights and how to reach the ultimate goal which is success show me a man that dreams and i will tell you the heights that he will attain does life have more to offer what is the way to success this book answers all these questions it is a load of knowledge it s not for everyone but strictly for the brightest of minds and success oriented people and for non dreamers as well who will also learn to dream because there isn t hope lost it s never too late you only need to pay attention to every detail which will be discussed in full i believe we should all yearn for success never give up on dreams and as long as we are ready to accommodate greatness by pursuing it we ll surely get to it challenges conventional views about standardized testing to argue that success is more determined by self discipline and describes the work of pioneering researchers and educators who have enabled effective new teaching methods although more and more students have the test scores and transcripts to get into college far too many are struggling once they get there these students are surprised to find that college coursework demands so much more of them than high school for the first time they are asked to think deeply write extensively document assertions solve non routine problems apply concepts and accept unvarnished critiques of their work college knowledge confronts this problem by looking at the disconnect between what high schools do and what colleges expect and proposes a solution by identifying what students need to know and be able to do in order to succeed the book is based on an extensive three year project sponsored by the association of american universities in partnership with the pew charitable trusts this landmark research identified what it takes to succeed in entry level university courses based on the project s findings and interviews with students faculty and staff this groundbreaking book delineates the cognitive skills and subject area knowledge that college bound students need to master in order to succeed in today s colleges and universities these standards for success cover the major subject areas of english mathematics natural sciences social sciences second languages and the arts this is a story of reinvention
